Dear Friends and Colleagues,

Welcome to IETA's North American Climate Summit!

I’m delighted you are joining us for one of the premier events in the carbon markets calendar; the IETA team has worked hard to deliver a programme of sessions that I hope will bring you plenty of insight and information.

This year’s event marks a time of renewal for us at IETA. You’ll notice that our “look” has been thoroughly updated, and we hope you’re as pleased with it as we are!

For the last 24 years IETA has been a stalwart in the development of market-based mechanisms to address the challenge of climate change. Over the years we have highlighted the importance of ambition, integrity and transparency, all of which are essential elements in the development of robust and effective markets.

The last two years has seen immense growth in interest in markets, and our membership has grown to more than 300 companies. We have taken on greater duties around the market, assisting with the work of the IC-VCM as well as other initiatives, and you’ve no doubt noticed that our team is now considerably larger.

Our new tagline – “Making Net Zero Possible” – wraps all these elements into one overarching theme and underscores our core mission. We’re as determined as ever to highlight the benefits and efficiencies of well-regulated and ambitious carbon markets, and our new messaging reflects this.

2023 is a pivotal year for the markets.

- The UN’s Article 6.4 Supervisory Board is working through a long agenda to operationalise the new carbon credit mechanism, while Parties are preparing for the first Global Stocktake at COP28 this December.
- The voluntary carbon market (VCM) is meeting challenges on many fronts and is poised for further development as the emerging removals sector is seeing considerable growth. We’ve seen a huge upturn in interest in the VCM since the Glasgow COP in 2021 and after the explosive growth, this year is turning into a period of consolidation.

Compliance markets here in the US and around the world are busy drawing up reforms to address more ambitious climate targets for 2030 and beyond. Regulators in California, RGGI, New Zealand and the UK are all advancing proposals to upgrade their markets, while Europe has just signed off on one of the most-wide-ranging reform programmes its market has ever seen.

New compliance markets are being steadily developed from Latin America to Southeast Asia, as UN Parties continue to develop institutions and structures to help participate in Article 6.

So there’s plenty for us to review in New York this week! Take a look at the agenda on these pages; I’m sure you’ll find plenty to interest you. The IETA team is on hand to help with any questions you have, and I look forward to meeting you during the week.

WHAT THE CARBON MARKET HAS TO SAY

“EEI and our member electric companies are prioritizing customer affordability and reliability as we lead the way in delivering resilient clean energy across our economy.”

Brian Wolff, Chief Strategy Officer & EVP of Public Policy and External Affairs – EEI

“Indigo is proud to sponsor NACS 2023. IETA always builds an informative program and provides a forum for productive discussions during Climate Week.”

Max DuBuisson, Vice President, Sustainability, Policy & Engagement - Indigo Ag

“Xpansiv is pleased to support this IETA event and the ongoing discussion on the future shape of carbon markets as compliance obligations come into view. Important considerations must be made regarding ongoing market infrastructure, and we look forward to engaging in this dialogue.”

John Melby, CEO – Xpansiv

“Rebellion Energy Solutions is honored to sponsor NACS 2023. We generate durable, verified carbon credits and attractive co-benefits through projects that immediately, permanently abate methane emissions from orphan oil and gas wells in the United States. We look forward to the opportunity to connect with you in the Carbon Lounge.”

Brooke Swain, Project Manager – Rebellion Energy

“We’re witnessing a remarkable shift in the voluntary carbon market today as more organisations recognise that carbon offsets and removal credits are becoming a potential way to drive positive change. Data is a key component of driving transparency and trust in the market: something that’s currently not fully there yet. I look forward to the NACS 2023 and to be able to share some more insights and trends into where the VCM and CDR space is heading.”

Lars Kroijer, Director - AlliedOffsets

“To reach net-zero, it is not enough to measure deforestation. Reliable monitoring of forest degradation and reforestation is essential to understand the real climate impact of forest investments. Chloris is proud to support carbon markets with cutting-edge data solutions to do just that, anywhere on Earth.”

Marco Albani, Co-Founder & CEO - Chloris Geospatial

“Cool Effect believes carbon offsets, when done correctly, reduce or remove GHG emissions, support communities on the front line and help conserve ecosystems. Evidence shows that the businesses using carbon offsets are also the ones leading the way in decarbonization efforts.”

Dee Lawrence, Co-Founder and Director - Cool Effect

“Southeast Asia is crucial to a low-carbon future, and your journey starts in Singapore. As a gateway to the region, Singapore is supporting the growth of a vibrant carbon market by improving access to customers, partners, and quality nature-based solutions. Join us at our plenary session and speak to us at the Summit to find out more.”

Jingxin Zheng, Regional Vice President - Singapore Economic Development Board

“Following a successful public consultation, with participation from over 550 organisations, ERS is thrilled to announce the release of V1.0 of the Ecosystem Restoration Standard.”

Thibault Sorret, CEO & Cofounder - Ecosystem Restoration Standard

“Decentralised digital infrastructure in carbon markets is more than a technological advance; it’s a trust revolution. By enhancing transparency and accountability, it paves the way for a more efficient and resilient market.”

Dinesh Babu, Executive Director - CAD Trust
